LAST POST SOUNDS FOR GREAT LEADER IN WAR AND PEACE

General Sir Arthur Currie, Commander-in-Chief of Canada's Fighting Men on France's Battlefields Is Laid to Rest With the Dignity of Full Military Honors

MONTREAL, Dec. 5 (CP).—In the sombre dusk of a December evening, with a damp mist shrouding the flanks of Mount Royal, the nation today interred Sir Arthur William Currie. On the ledge of a precipitous slope which commands a valley whose landscape was grey and bleak, enveloped in the cheerless fog of twilight, the ashes of the former Commander of the Canadian Corps were committed to the grave.

The highest in the land accompanied the bier of Sir Arthur Currie to the grave, but the leveling power that is death saw them give place to the humblest. Men were there whose behest Sir Arthur Currie had unhesitatingly obeyed; men were there who had without question obeyed his own commands.

Sir Arthur Currie's funeral was an occasion that brought representation from every feature of national life. The representative of the Governor-General, the Prime Minister, the Cabinet, the naval, military and air force officials reflecting the functions of government, the representatives of foreign governments, of church and state in Canada, all undertook the slow, solemn march behind the bier.

IN ENDLESS COLUMN Through streets that were thronged with a silent, reverent populace, they proceeded in endless column. No sound ruptured the enveloping pall of silence but the majestic and mournful strains of the funeral march, the wistful rattle of the drum, the tramp—tramp—of the thousands.

Early today the religious services had been performed in Christ Church Cathedral. These, presided over by Bishop John C. Partridge, and the Very Rev. Arthur Carleton, Dean of Montreal, were attended for the most part by the civil functionaries of state. His Excellency the Governor-General was present in person, as also was the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett.

From Christ Church, Sir Arthur Currie's body was conveyed to McGill University.

A BRIEF HALT Here again were assembled the great of the nation. For a few minutes the bier lay in the vestibule of

REACH ACCORD ON WAGE CUTS Railway Shopmen Accept Reductions in Line With Running Trades

MONTREAL, Dec. 5 (CP).—A compromise has been reached in the wage dispute between the railway shopmen, numbering some 35,000 employees throughout Canada, and the Canadian railway companies.

Both parties have agreed to a 15 per cent reduction in wages for one year, dating from December 16, thus bringing this important group of workers, comprising carmen, machinists, boilermakers, blacksmiths, moulders, electrical and sheet metal workers, into line with the running trades employees and a number of other bodies which have accepted similar reductions.

EXCEPTIONS IN RULING Men whose bulletined working time is less than forty hours per week will not be subject to the 15 per cent reduction, but shall have only 10 per cent, the reduction in effect for the past year, taken from their pay cheques.

At the end of one year the reduction will drop to 10 per cent for those workers who receive the 15 per cent reduction. After October 16, 1934, either party may serve thirty days' notice of a desire to change the percentage for the year following.

Climaxing a long series of negotiations, the agreement was made public in a joint official statement.

HON. H. M. MARLER FIGHTS PLEURISY

Canadian Minister in Japan Has Second Relapse After Pneumonia Attack

TOKIO, Dec. 6 (CP).—Hon. H. M. Marler, Canadian Minister to Japan, had a troubled night, and his temperature rose to 101 degrees, aggravated of pleurisy in the right lung. His condition is described by his physicians, however, as "as well as can be expected under the circumstances."

Mr. Marler is suffering his second relapse in recovery from pneumonia. He first entered St. Luke's Hospital on November 4, passed the crisis of the disease successfully and was convalescent. Pleurisy developed to set him back, but he became convalescent again and returned home to the Canadian Legation last Sunday. He suffered another relapse and had to re-enter hospital on Monday.

Great Britain Makes No Promises in Her Reply to Free State

Regards Separation Question as Hypothetical and Refuses to Discuss Possibilities of Aggressive Action—De Valera May Take Vote

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP).—Great Britain has refused an Irish Free State request that she promise to abstain from aggressive action in the event the Free State separates from the Empire, but it is merely because Great Britain regards the question of separation as purely hypothetical.

It was made clear in the notes exchanged between the Free State and British governments, read to the House of Commons this afternoon by Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions.

REMOTE CONTINGENCY It was apparent from the tone of the British letter the British Government regards separation as a very remote contingency, and one which the minister stressed he would never arise.

Tornadoes Cause Death and Loss in North Louisiana

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 5 (AP).—Tornadoes striking in widely separated sections of North Louisiana tonight claimed one life and resulted in five injured Negroes being brought to Charity Hospital here for treatment. Mrs. J. C. Manasco was killed when a tornado swept through a rural area eight miles east of many, leveling eight of ten homes on three plantations.

LINDBERGH'S OVER OCEAN

Flying Couple Leave West Africa for Brazil—Progress Is Reported

BATHURST, Gambia, Dec. 6 (AP).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off at 2 a.m. today. Becalmed since Saturday on his projected flight across 1,900 miles of open sea for South America, Colonel Lindbergh finally lifted his big red monoplane into the air and left the coast of West Africa behind him.

Colonel Lindbergh's crossing of the South Atlantic is the homeward link in a series of exploratory flights which have carried him, approximately, 18,000 miles from the United States over Eastern Canada and across the North Atlantic, down through Europe, and to the western extremity of the African Continent.

WELL ON THEIR WAY NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were approximately 446 miles southeast of Bathurst, West Africa, at 12:30 a.m., today, 3 hours and 45 minutes after their departure from that port for Brazil.

A friendly wind and perfect weather were helping them. The wind blew about ten knots, and was at the ship's tail. Visibility was good.

REPORTS ON PROGRESS Mrs. Lindbergh, the radio operator, was sending messages at regular intervals, and each was encouraging.

Their altitude was averaging 12,000 feet. The ship, heavily laden with fuel, naturally was not at its best cruising speed. Pan-American Airways officials said the speed would increase as the load decreased.

Twelve Banks Sell Shares To U.S. Gov't

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP).—The United States Government, today, became a partner in more than half of the leading banks of New York City, with the selling by twelve institutions of $93,700,000 of their capital notes and preferred stock to the Reconstruction Corporation.

The sale was announced by Jesse H. Jones, corporation chairman, who said that while the banks did not need the capital, their action had lent their weight to the Administration's programme of strengthening the banking system throughout the country.

FLASH FROM UTAH SIGNALS END OF AMERICAN DROUGHT

Expected to Become Revenue Minister Barrels and Bottles Roar From Bonded Warehouses as Legal Prohibition Against Liquor Is Lifted by Proclamation—Repeal Celebrated in Modest Way With Little Boisterousness

Several Million Gallons Will Go in From Canada

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (CP).—Flash—"Utah Ratifies." Repeat flash—"Utah ratifies the twenty-first amendment to the American constitution." Thus, in newspaper language, was the world apprised at 5:32:30 (E.S.T.) tonight the United States was no longer dry. It was legal to take a drink of strong liquor in eighteen out of forty-eight states, and an era was at an end.

After nearly fourteen years of prohibition, word was received at Washington from Salt Lake City that the thirty-sixth state had turned thumbs down on the attempt of the Federal Government to prevent any of the 130,000,000 citizens from commerce in intoxicating liquors. Pennsylvania and Ohio ratified earlier in the day.

IMMEDIATE PROCLAMATION Immediately a proclamation was issued from the State Department destroying the Eighteenth Amendment by substitution of the twenty-first.

Immediately trucks laden with barrels and bottles roared from bonded warehouses; in shiny new bars, in restaurants and hotels wherever state laws did not prevent, there was a popping of corks, accustomed hands vigorously stirred the cocktail shakers with no fear of police officers or "chiclers" rushing.

LEAGUE MUST BE REFORMED

Italy to Withdraw Unless Radical Changes Made, Fascists Decide

ROME, Dec. 6 (AP).—The Grand Council of the Fascist Party, in a secret midnight meeting, decided Italy will remain in the League of Nations only if it is "radically reformed in the shortest possible time."

The meeting was presided over by Premier Mussolini.

Reform must be applied to the League's constitution, working system and objectives, said a resolution voted by the council and communicated officially to the press.

TOKEN OF GOOD FAITH The council decided Italy will pay $100,000 to the United States on war debt interest due December 15. A press communique pointed out that Italy has not had time, owing to the pressure of events, to conduct negotiations for a final settlement of the war debt question as it wished to do, so it decided meantime, to make this payment as a token of good faith.

Man Killed In Storm in Washington

A high tide, whipped forward by the gale, flooded low lands in the Gray's Harbor country and considerable damage was done to windows, street lights and signs in both Aberdeen and Hoquiam by the gale.

Tentative plans were also made for the installation of officers.

LAST POST SOUNDS FOR GREAT LEADER IN WAR AND PEACE

The arts building while the mourners assembled for the last, sad journey to the graveside. Outside, the entire campus was thronged. In front of the building a small space had been set aside, and within it the coffin was transferred to the gun carriage. Proceeding were all the troops in their appointed order, cavalry and infantry escorts drawn from the Montreal garrison. Behind the gun was Sir Arthur's charger, with his reins reversed in their stirrups. The pallbearers—two lieutenants—generals and six major-generals—followed, with the immediate members of Sir Arthur's family in the rear.

The cortege moved off to the dull booming of the salute of seventeen guns, the honor to a general of full rank.

VETERANS IN VAN
Proceeding all dignitaries of state were the representatives of organized ex-service men's associations. Major J. B. Roper, M.C., K.C., of the Canadian Legion; Rev. Sidney Lamb, of the Amputations Association; Captain E. Baker, M.C., of the Blind Soldiers and Sailors; Lieut. Col. R. de Martigny, of the Quebec Provincial Command; the Canadian Legion, and others took place in the cortege immediately in rear of the active military officers. Colonel Fawcett, G. Taylor, of Winnipeg, represented the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada.

Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, walked with the representative of McGill University in rear of the Canadian veterans.

FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVES
Sir William Clark, for the Government of the United Kingdom; the Hon. W. D. Robbins, for the United States Government; Hon. W. D. Washington, Canadian minister in London; M. Kavanagh, for the Government of Japan; the representative of the French Republic, marched in order of precedence behind the bier.

Bare-headed, the thousands watched the cortege pass. The sun-carriage, conveying the flag-draped coffin, was drawn up in the broad space by the monument. Infantry escort, resting on their reverent arms, stood motionless on either side of the road and behind the bier stood the chief mourners.

REGIMENTS MARCH PAST
To the accompaniment of pipes and drums and brass bands, regiment after regiment, each one preceded by its own battalion war veterans, marched past the bier, saluting it as they went by. The young soldiers of the militia, the old soldiers of the Great War, the still older veterans who had fought in the Transvaal, stepped along with flag-draped coffin. With the approach to the end of the long column came the main body of veterans of the Great War, the men whom Sir Arthur Currie had led. With the march past of the veterans the last, reverent tribute was paid. Night was falling when the bier reached the graveside. The steep slopes of Mount Royal were shrouded in mist, carpeted with snow. The gun carriage had halted high on the brow of the hill, and from it the pallbearers raised the still shrouded coffin, to bear it reverently to the grave.

In the gathering dusk the mourners were indistinct, only the voice of the Lord Bishop of Montreal sound. The silver notes of "Last Post" rang out. They died on the ascending note, and for an instant there was an overpowering hush. Then from the bugles came the ringing, cheerful notes of "Reveille"—the dawn of a new day. The mourners filed past the grave. The internment of Sir Arthur Currie was ended.

HUNTER HORRIFIED AS CABBOROSAUROS GULPED DUCK DOWN

ing I could plainly see his whole body just moving about a foot underneath the surface.

HEAD LIKE HORSE
"Thinking that I might alarm Norman, I did not draw his attention to what I saw, so he came along and picked me up at the point from which I had shot the duck. From there he paddled to the wounded bird out in the deep bed, and I was sitting in the front of the punt ready to pick up the bird, then about ten feet away, when out of the sea rose two coils. They reached a height of at least six feet above me, gradually sinking under the water again, when a head appeared. The head was that of a horse with ears or nostrils; but its eyes were in the front of its head, which was flat, just like that of a horse."

"I was still only ten feet away from it, with the duck right beside the thing, when to my horror it gulped the bird down its throat. It then looked at me, its mouth wide open, and I could plainly see its teeth and tongue, which were like those of a fish."

"I would swear to the head being three feet long and two feet wide. When it closed its mouth, all the loose skin folded in neatly at the corners, while its breathing came in short sharp pants, like a dog's after a run."

FORTY FEET LONG
"Its length when I first saw it lying in the bay was fully forty feet long, and from head to tail I would say it was all of that length, if not more, as it appeared in front of me."

"Its thickness was between two and a half and three feet, at the head, gradually tapering to the tail, like a snake. Its color was a brownish grey, the skin smooth, with no spikes or fins whatever to be seen."

"The eleven people who also saw the serpent, when I called, they then plainly, and several times shortly after, when it disappeared for good."

"I might add that it swims with its head just breaking water."

FLASH FROM UTAH SIGNALS END OF AMERICAN DROUGHT

MODEST CELEBRATION
The "end of the drought," judging by developments, was to be celebrated in a modest way, dictated by the financial circumstances of the people, the fact there was some doubt about the quantity of good liquor available, and in consideration of the situation, which had obtained during the "drought," that people who wanted a drink could always get it.

For Canadians, the change in American affairs, the slow shift in sentiment over years rapidly coming to a head after depression set in, and the Democratic party took power on a repeal plank, meant several things.

THE SORT THEY LIKE
Stored in Canadian liquor warehouses there was 40,000,000 gallons of the sort of whisky preferred by the citizens to the South. Word came from Washington today of the favorable attitude of the Federal Government toward the importation of "several million gallons" under the import quota system to be established. This meant a neat sum.

On the other hand, the stream of dollars which flowed by circuitous route into the Dominion via rum and whisky from the Pacific Coast, around by way of the Mexican coast, or across the Quebec and Ontario border, will be reduced to a trickle.

REMOVING IRRITATION
At the same time the causes of irritation between neighboring countries as the result of collisions between rum-runners and United States enforcement agents, the most famous incident was that of the sinking of the I'm Alone—will largely cease to exist.

As to tourist traffic to Canada, an important item in the Dominion's annual income, experts here have considered comparatively few Americans have visited Canada during the last few years for the sake of getting a good drink of liquor, inasmuch as it was a simple matter to obtain a drink at home.

DIED AT NANAIMO
NANAIMO, Dec. 5.—The death occurred at 1:30 on Monday morning of Joseph Dawson, at his residence, 752 Nicol Street, following a brief illness. Mr. Dawson was seventy-five years of age, and had resided in Nanaimo for the past twenty years. He leaves six daughters: Mrs. R. Berke, Mrs. Chas. Panting and Mrs. W. Johnson, Vancouver; Mrs. W. Wellen and Mrs. T. Masurk, London, Ont., and Mrs. F. Dixon, England; also four sons: Joseph, Nanaimo; John and Thomas, Vancouver, and Robert, in England.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday, at 2:30, from the D. J. Jenkins, Ltd., Chapel, Rev. J. H. Wright will officiate.

GREAT BRITAIN MAKES NO PROMISES IN HER REPLY TO FREE STATE

rejected by the British note. The British communication pointed out that the Anglo-Irish treaty has brought a measure of peace and contentment which could not have been reached by any other means, that the Free State had shared in constitutional growth of the Dominion until they were all free within the Commonwealth.

Rejecting the assumption that lasting friendship could not be attained on the basis of the present relationship, the British note added, "They (the British Government) do not see any ground for answering a question which is founded on that assumption."

PURELY HYPOTHETICAL
"They cannot believe that the Irish Free State Government contemplates final repudiation of their treaty obligations in the manner suggested, and consequently they do not feel called upon to say what attitude they would adopt in a circumstance which they regard as purely hypothetical."

Consequently the responsibility for the next move, whatever it is, is thrust upon the Free State Government. Apparently, reports have it that the Cabinet, which was busy today studying the British reply, may call a general election shortly in which the issue will be separation from the Empire, or may hold a general plebiscite.

By the British note, the British Government apparently is taking a situation very calmly. Just what effect the situation will have on water other dominions is not very clear. Copies of the note have been provided the Dominion governments, and they are free to comment.

The British Government regards the dispute between the Free State and the United Kingdom as a domestic one.

What Today Means

"SAGITTARIUS"
If December 6 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 to 8:15 a.m., from 1 to 2 p.m., and from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 to 11 a.m., from 3 to 3:25 p.m., and from 7:35 to 8:35 p.m.

You will find yourself disposed toward your fellow-men on this date and more than one deed of kindness, done impulsively and from the bottom of your heart, will go to your credit. Mothers will be inclined to be critical of their little ones and will probably expect too much of them. Invalids will show little improvement.

The child born on this December 6 will enjoy life in the outdoors and will pay little attention to, and show no interest in, pursuits that will keep it inside. Books will be discarded for more human things; very fond of animals and will have great success in obtaining them. Much more a physical being than a mental one.

If December 6 is the date of your birth, you will probably never be able to avoid friction in any of your relations with others. At home and in the office there will be frequent clashes of personality, many of them the result of your own actions, for you are quick-tempered, impatient and eager to finish what you have at hand and to be off to something else. People mistake this business-like and brusque manner of yours and attribute it to conceit. They resent your general attitude and you do little to put yourself in a right light. Many of your little troubles will arise because, without trying to, you create jealousy. That you will succeed is beyond any doubt, but your road would be made easier if you were less quick to disregard others.

Born on December 6, you are not afraid to tackle any job, big or little. You know what you can expect from yourself and you know that you can get the right people to not one to play politics, to treat all people in the same way and you are very democratic. You are not a quitter. What you do to time is a quiet, steady, unobtrusive life and before you are very old you will probably develop a pretty tolerable philosophy of your own.

MONETARY POLICY IS SUGGESTED TO PREMIER BENNETT

2. "That in the meantime and as from the date of the said agreement, the Dominion Government should accept the apparent intent of the agreement already executed between the Dominion and Provincial Governments, and assume full responsibility for all physically fit, unemployed, single homeless men."

WORKS PROGRAMME
3. "That we view with favor the proposal that an extensive work programme should be inaugurated, at an early date, to be financed by use of the national credit, and if necessary by the issue of additional currency."

4. "That the four Provinces should seek an early conference with the Dominion Government to review the whole problem of unemployment relief and its administration."

FINANCIAL PROPOSALS
"Finance—Be it further resolved that we have given careful consideration to the various problems of finance, believing that in the interest of the Dominion and of the Dominion Governments, give careful consideration to the possibility of some scheme of refunding the whole or part of the respective Provincial debts at lower rates of interest."

LOWER INTEREST RATES
6. "That to facilitate bringing about lower interest rates on Provincial and municipal borrowings, and to encourage loans to every branch of industry at lower rates of interest, that the rates of interest on deposits should be again lowered."

"Unemployment Insurance—Be it further resolved that we hereby endorse the general principle of a national scheme of unemployment insurance on a contributory basis and recommend that such a scheme be prepared at an early date. We do further approve of such necessary changes in the British North America Act as may be necessary to confer upon the Dominion the necessary jurisdiction to carry such a scheme into effect."

The original draft of the message was signed in turn by the four Provincial Government leaders.

STORM HITS WEST COAST

Victoria Lashed by Forty-Five Mile Gale—Squally Weather Today

A strong gale continued to lash Victoria last night, and the outlook for today was squally weather with a steady improvement in conditions, according to F. Napier Denison, director of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory.

Full force of the storm was felt during the early hours of yesterday morning, the wind reaching gale force at 2 a.m. and steadily increasing until it reached a maximum of forty-five miles an hour between 7 and 9 o'clock. Toward noon the kind abated, but again picked up in the afternoon, once again reaching gale force at night.

HEAVY RAINFALL
During the day the wind switched from a northwest to southwest gale, and all along the Coast storm signals were posted. Eastern reported a precipitation of 3.7 inches of rain within twenty-four hours, while Mr. Denison reported a drop in the barometric pressure to 28.80 off the Queen Charlotte Islands to the North.

Commenting on the report from the Japanese freighter Hakuishika Maru in the North Pacific that she had encountered a ninety-mile hurricane accompanied by phenomenal heat, Mr. Denison said the heat would be created by the heavy rainfall, which would release latent heat, thus causing a sharp rise in the temperature.

MILDER WEATHER
The storm, he said, would insure mild weather for Victoria during the next few days. Touching upon temperatures, Mr. Denison contrasted the fifty below zero weather at Dawson City with the forty-three degrees above in Victoria yesterday.

The Ross Bay seal was subjected to terrific seas yesterday, while the breakwater was covered completely at low tide during the height of the storm. Coastwise shipping was delayed, while deep-sea liners all reported heavy seas running.

MODERN METHODS USED IN SURVEY

H. D. Pariseau Traces Evolution in Hydrographic Work Before Kwanis Club

The evolution in the equipment and methods in hydrographic survey during the past one hundred and fifty years was presented before the Kwanis Club, yesterday, by H. D. Pariseau, who is in charge of the hydrographic survey work of the Coast. The speaker traced the methods employed from the time of the Spanish and early English surveys made here, dating back to 1790 and 1792. Sub-Commander Quimper, in 1790, in command of the Spanish ship, carried on surveys hereabouts, while two years later, Captain George Vancouver, with H.M.S. Discovery and Chatham, did excellent work along this Coast.

The methods employed then were for the ship to anchor in the harbor, and by means of the long boats manned by the crew, surveys were carried out for very considerable distances from the vessel. Not many details as to the waters were then arrived at. It was only in a general way that the surveys were made.

SAILS WERE USED
From that time on various surveys were carried out by sailing vessels, or later by ships that used steam when necessary as an auxiliary power. This included the work done by H.M.S. Herald from 1846; H.M.S. Plumper, from 1858; and H.M.S. Egeria, from 1898 until 1910.

The modern vessels used in the services were well equipped with internal combustion engines in the launches used, which shortened the operation of surveys and did away with the loss of energy and time by having the crew use oars for propelling the boats.

The technical equipment employed nowadays was described. At the same time, while modern vessels were equipped with the up-to-date apparatus, many countries in their work still made use of discarded vessels of the navy for the purpose of carrying along the hydrographic work.

PROF. TOPPING TO SPEAK THURSDAY

Professor C. W. Topping, B.A. (Queen's), S.T.D. (Wesleyan Theological College), M.A. (Columbia), associate professor of economics and sociology, and director of courses in social work at the University of British Columbia, will address the University Extension Association at Victoria College, tomorrow night, at 8:15 o'clock.

Dr. Topping is an authority on social work, and his most interesting career has provided an exceptional background for his lecture, here, on "The Social Engineer in Community and in Public Service." Professor Topping was Governor of Kingston jail for two years, following his return from overseas. He continued his study of social service during a two-year fellowship at McGill. He is the author of "Canadian Penal Institutions," and of numerous articles which have appeared in Canadian and in international journals.

Maintaining that public service in England, and on this continent, must be undertaken from different motives, and by different methods, Professor Topping will advocate a vigorous programme of adult education concerning matters dealt with in such university courses as economics, psychology, government, sociology, etc., and will suggest a school of Applied Social Science as a proper adjunct of a modern university. The public is cordially invited to hear this address.

Upswing of Industry Is Not Checked

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP).—British industry continues its steady upward swing.

Improvement is chiefly shown in coal mining, general engineering, shipbuilding and ship repairing, motor vehicle, metal good manufacturing, cotton and pottery, iron, steel and distributing industries.

Between December 8, 1931, and November 21, 1932, a total of fifty weeks, altogether 1,754,749 vacant situations were filled. In the fifty-two weeks from November 22, 1932, to November 20 last, the number of vacant situations filled was 2,185,091.

WALTER INWARD NEW CANDIDATE

Will Add Dignity and Decorum to Council as Alderman, He Declares

WALTER INWARD

Walter Inward, veteran of many civic election campaigns, threw his hat into the ring, yesterday, announcing his candidature for aldermanic honors.

His entrance into the aldermanic field brings the total number of candidates seeking election to the five vacancies on the council to fourteen. Total candidates in the civic field number twenty.

Mr. Inward has been a resident of this city for thirty years, and first ran for office in 1922. Since then he has been an almost regular aspirant to the council, but as yet has not received the full endorsement of the electorate.

"STAR CHAMBER METHODS"
In announcing his candidature, Mr. Inward said he would urge the voters to "elect Walter Inward and his fox terriers to office so that I can add a little dignity and decorum to the council. We've enough of star chamber methods," he declared.

He said he would advocate development of the Dallas Road waterfront as an entertainment centre, similar to that along San Francisco's marina. He also would fight for the construction of a new Provincial Courthouse in this city.

SCOUTS' TOY SHOP OPENS

Victoria Boys Start Drive to Raise 10,000 Toys for Needy Children

Victoria Boy Scouts are in action. More than 1,000 Scouts and Cubs have launched their drive to gather 10,000 toys for distribution to needy children in Victoria and surrounding districts at Christmas. An elaborate workshop has been set in motion in the Hibben-Bone Building and repairs to broken toys are being carried out.

As an added feature to their drive, the Scouts have secured the Capitol Theatre Saturday morning and will present, through the courtesy of the manager, Ivan Ackroy, an elaborate programme of talking pictures and stage turns commencing at 9:30 o'clock.

W. G. Lythgoe, in charge of the workshop, stated yesterday that owing to the short space of time remaining before the Yuletide season, concentrated action was necessary. He asked that all persons desiring to assist the Scouts in their noble effort do so immediately. Slightly broken toys in addition to new ones are acceptable, he declared. Persons wishing to contribute money can do so at the workshop.

WILL COLLECT TOYS
Mr. Lythgoe pointed out that if it were not convenient for persons to bring in their contributions, if they would call at the workshop, on Government Street, arrangements would be made for their collection.

An excellent show has been arranged for Saturday morning and it was explained that either toys or food would be acceptable as admission. The food will be turned over to the Friendly Help, while the Scouts will take care of the toys. Adults will be assessed the same as children.

A FIDDLE FOR A FARM

SEATTLE, Dec. 5 (CP).—W. D. Clemmings, a farmer at King's Mountain, N.C., wants to settle in Washington or Oregon. He writes that all he has to offer in exchange for a farm is a genuine Stainer violin, made in the eighteenth century. In normal times, he says, it would be worth $1,400.

Vehicle Control Conference Called At Ottawa Shortly

PATRICK PHILIP, deputy Minister of Public Works and Chief Engineer in the Provincial service, will leave on Saturday for Ottawa, to attend a Federal conference on bus and truck lines regulation to be held on December 14. Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Works, announced yesterday, Mr. Philip will represent the Provincial Government at the conference, which is expected to deal with uniform regulation of road-freight traffic in Canada.

CURRENT TAX RECEIPTS UP

Collection Passes 76 Per Cent Point, City Comptroller Announces

Collection of current taxes passed the 76 per cent mark on Monday, it was announced, yesterday, by D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller, who is much gratified with the situation. So far a total of $1,417,156 has been collected on current account. The total levy was $1,858,244, so that $441,088 remains to achieve a 100 per cent collection.

However, the city estimated only an 81 per cent collection, so that with 76.23 per cent already received, there is every prospect that the estimate for the year will be exceeded.

CHURCH AIDS IN SOCIAL ADVANCE

Dr. G. R. Switzer Addresses Men's Club at Fairfield United Church—History Given

No other institution had given as much social reform and acts of mercy as the church, stated Dr. Gerald R. Switzer, pastor of Oak Bay United Church, in speaking to the Fairfield Men's Club on "Church and Social Progress," at their supper meeting held Monday in the church hall.

While Fascism, Communism and other dictatorial powers were seeking to bring better conditions into effect by force, the teachings of Christ, through the church, were bringing about a new creation which would be of peaceful and beneficial nature to all.

The intolerance of early Christians, who in the name of religion, imprisoned, burned at the stake, and persecuted all who refused to accept the teaching of the church of the day, was compared with the interpretations and teaching of the church today.

Vocal selections were given by A. W. Tresselt and R. Husband. Col. R. H. Campbell presided and was accompanied at the head table by Rev. E. W. Henry, D.D., Dr. Switzer, Dr. W. Thomas and Allen C. Stewart.

DELUSION OF NATIONALIZATION

"There is no monopoly so heartless, so arbitrary in the exercise of its power, as the monopoly of public administration." This is one thought put forward by Mr. Francis Lawrence Bland, director of Barclay's Bank, in answer to the socialist plea for the nationalization of banks. One of the balls held out in the argument for nationalization is that banking services would be cheapened. That is wholly unlikely. No economies would result from state control. On the contrary, if the Post Office services are any criterion, the cost of banking services would increase. At present the banks are able to offer depositors rates which when granted by the Post Office Savings Bank (in Britain) have at times involved a charge on the public purse.

Mr. Bland says that the political thought which is active in the agitation for nationalization may believe that the millennium will follow state control. Personally, however, he finds it hard to debit any serious thinker with such a fallacious opinion. The banks are pointed out as the symbol of the so-called capitalistic system which is to be destroyed. They are the target of diatribes against wealth as such. This also is a fallacy. Both rich and poor are those who leave money in the banks' hands. This applies to shareholders as well as to depositors. There are many more of the poor than of the rich who utilize the banks. In this connection Mr. Bland says:

"The idea that bankers' funds represent the money of the rich is wrong; they are principally the aggregate moneys of vast numbers of quite small people, or money which is lying ready for use in trade at short notice. The wealth of the really rich lies in quite other quarters, invested in a thousand and one different ways, rarely allowed to lie in cash in bankers' hands. These millions of small people interested in banking constitute a solid barrier to wild schemes of dangerous experiment. They are not unappreciative of the fact that while the very foundations of the financial world have crumbled elsewhere British banking has stood four square to the economic blizzard. The most superficial examination of our figures will show that we have not escaped the effects of the depression in trade and industry, with whose interests our own are indissolubly bound up; even if the return distributed to shareholders has not yet suffered substantially it is not because our profits have not fallen—they have dropped consistently for several years past, far more heavily than those of many commercial concerns, and it is only by the conservative administration during years of prosperity, when the banks refrained from distributing their profits to the full, that they have been enabled to come through as far as they have." Mr. Bland concludes his argument by saying:

"Let us make clear that the banks of Britain are actual, if not legal, trustees for the benefit of millions of customers—that such profits as accrue in the course of their business are moderate, going no longer to the few, but to hundreds of thousands of shareholders—and, finally, that the banker of today is neither a 'Money Baron' nor a 'Frigid and Flapping Penguin'; he is almost universally a highly intelligent, salaried officer, who receives salary, if any direct share of these profits, content to find a higher satisfaction in services well and sympathetically rendered to his fellow citizens."

SHIP SUBSIDIES

Sir Alexander Shaw, chairman of the P. & O. and British India Navigation Companies, says that British shipping does not need to be pampered, that it can weather the blast of economic competition, but not the dynamite of foreign subsidies. There are now thirty-five countries that because of subsidies are definitely injuring the trade of British ships. The subsidies granted, against which British shipping has to contend, reach the total of £20,000,000 per annum. Sir Alexander Shaw says that British trade between Australia and New Zealand is being injured, not because foreign ships are better manned or managed, but by virtue of the state aid they receive.

The thirty-five nations that give subsidies to their shipping reserve their coastal and colonial trade for their own vessels, and otherwise discriminate. They lavish subsidies in order to gain trade. Italy by this method is securing freights between South Africa and Britain. Some idea of what the nature of the competition is illustrated by the fact that America's merchant fleet since the war has been artificially supported to the tune of $600,000,000, all derived from the pockets of the taxpayers. As a result of this competition Britain has 2,500,000 gross tons of shipping lying idle. The net income of some of her shipping lines has been cut in half. She is short $65,000,000 that figured in her invisible exports and helped to maintain the balance of trade.

The London Times says that it is doubtful if the subsidizing nations are reaping any net benefit from the damage they are inflicting on world shipping and world trade. It points out that the resulting excess of tonnage reduces the freight earnings of all ships, and reduced earnings call for larger subsidies, which mean the disorganization of national budgets. The practice of giving subsidies is growing. There is now before the French Chamber an elaborate scheme for financing mercantile shipping. A point is being reached where Britain will have to take measures of self-defence. She cannot go on contending with embargoes, discriminatory port dues and subsidized competition. So far no definite scheme as to what should be done has been evolved. The Empire Shipping Conference to meet in London next year to evolve a plan. That organization knows that the highways of the Empire are on the water, and that those highways must be maintained and utilized to the largest possible extent by ships flying the British flag.

TRIBUTE TO BRITAIN

Mr. William Randolph Hearst seems to have changed his viewpoint regarding Britain. It is true that he has a habit of somersaulting in his ideas but on the present occasion he seems to have got nearer the truth than often in the past. He has been opposing the recovery programme of the United States for he does not like the restrictions that it imposes and he sees in Britain a country that has pointed the one sure way to move out of depression towards prosperity. In an article he has contributed to The London Sunday Chronicle the following appears:

"Britain is the home of freedom—freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of publication, freedom of action. There is no socialist revolution in Britain; no dictatorship; no substitution of despotism for democracy; no interference with individual liberty; no National Recovery Act. Britain is progressing out of the depression soberly, legitimately, intelligently and effectively."

MOTORING ACCIDENTS

There is a National Safety First Association in Britain and it has been analysing motor accidents in connection with which some more than usually interesting statistics have been prepared. It appears that nine out of every ten persons killed on the roads are walking, cycling, or motor-cycling and that half the victims are pedestrians. Most of the latter are either under the age of ten or over the age of forty-five. One-quarter of the victims are motor-cyclists, mostly young people. One-sixth of the victims are pedestrian cyclists mostly between the ages of fourteen and twenty-one. It has been ascertained that two out of every three accidents are due to some thoughtless action on the part of the victim. Eighty-five per cent of the accidents are due to human errors of judgment, not to vehicle, road or weather defects. Only two out of every 100 fatal accidents are classified as unavoidable.

FRIENDLY HELP APPEAL

Citizens during the month of December are perhaps in a most receptive mood where charitable appeals are made than during any other month. The fount of generosity always flows more freely at the year end. That is one reason why the appeal now being made by the Friendly Help Welfare Association should meet with a ready response. There is, however, a stronger reason, and that is the character of work done by this organization during so many years past. It has relieved distress very largely through the agencies of voluntary contributions. Latterly its field has been enlarged and its responsibilities increased. It needs a substantial measure of public support. It is welfare work in the best sense of the word, and we bespeak a ready response to the appeal.

The election of Mayor Ralph Webb for his eighth term in that office in Winnipeg is largely due to the policies he espouses. These policies comprise careful administration, the honoring of the city's financial obligations and the protection of its credit. His chief opponent, Mr. John Queen, a Laborite, advocated free spending and repudiation of a part of the interest payments on civic loans. The people of Winnipeg do not believe in repudiation, and so have returned Mayor Webb by a very large majority.

A RIBBON OF BLUE

There's a blue-ribbon'd girl
In our wonderful street;
To the last golden curl
She is dainty and sweet.
Though the skies are all grey
Still a moment to play,
When she smiles a good day
There's a ribbon of blue.

Oh! she comes like the dawn
In its rosiest flush,
With a flutter of lawn,
And a smile and a blush.
Just a moment to play,
Then she bids me adieu;
But I dream all the day
Of that ribbon of blue.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

How shall we rank thee upon glory's path?
Thou more than soldier and just less than —Hume.

The days are growing shorter, the nights longer and the air sharper. By these signs we know that the days of this year are about numbered, even if we had not been told so by the calendar hanging on the wall, now reduced to the last leaf. The melancholy days have come and the cold nights are here. But the sun is still in the heavens, although the segment of its 'circle is visibly contracted. Within a few weeks the time will have arrived for making new resolutions, most of them to be forgotten a day or a week after they are made. We have been enjoined by high authority to speak no ill of the dead. In the presence of the dead it is not a hard thing to refrain from speaking ill of it—there is a dignity, even a majesty, in the faces of the dead that imposes silence upon the living. All who have stood in the presence of death for the first time will also remember as long as they are numbered among the living the emotional effects of that first experience.

A thought arose in my mind this morning, after reading about the preparations which had been made for the burial of Sir Arthur Currie. It might be a good thing if the injunction to speak no ill of the living were revised and an injunction to speak no ill of the living were substituted for it. For if all the wagging tongues in the world could be stilled, many of the trials and tribulations of the people of the world would be avoided. Nobody should sit in judgment upon anybody else until the earthly course is run, and it is possible to form a just judgment of the life and character of the actor upon the stage of life. He was a shrewd judge of character who wrote:

"What's done we partly may compute,
But know not what's resisted."

We are dealing today with this subject because asked to do it by a comrade-in-arms who knew the late Canadian Commander-in-Chief, first as a soldier invested with tremendous responsibilities, and second as a friend after the war had been won, his tremendous responsibilities triumphantly met and his high duties conscientiously discharged. We have listened to testimony from a competent technical authority that Sir Arthur Currie was not only an efficient commander of men, but a loyal and true friend and comrade. In the camps and on the field of battle none but good was spoken of him by those who knew him best.

Now it just happens that we knew Sir Arthur in an entirely civilian capacity. We met him first on a train on the old Victoria and Sidney Railway, coming in from his country school in Saanich to spend the week-end in Victoria. He was then not a particularly impressive figure of man except in stature and build. He was merely a big, well-built, boy sort of fellow, full of the joy of abundant life, the type of boys they used to breed on the farms of Western Ontario. If you met Currie once you were his friend forever after. He had a truly remarkable faculty of remembering faces and names. That is a wonderful gift, and counts for much in the life of a politician, whatever its value to a soldier.

The value of experience in education was never more fully illustrated than in the case of Sir Arthur Currie. When the bugle on the streets of Victoria sounded the call to arms, one of the first to hear and respond to the summons was Arthur Currie, a business man and officer in a volunteer regiment, to which he had graduated from the ranks. After the bugle sounded the call to lay down arms, Sir Arthur Currie made a hasty visit to Victoria bearing honors conferred upon him by his King and the President of France and carrying testimonials to his military qualities and personal worth by big-talents of the Allied armies. The boy who began his career as a teacher in a country school returned to Victoria a great man whom all the world delighted to honor.

The returned man, it may seem paradoxical to say, was the same man, but quite a different man. There was no apparent external change, except a few lines in the strong face and a few grey hairs on the head—but there was an inward change. Through the veneer of the man of the world there shone a spiritual grace which was expressed in polished speech and displayed in broad sympathies for all humanity. There were critics who said Sir Arthur Currie had no academic training to fit him for the position of president of McGill University; but sheepskins and parchments are not invariably testimonials to the highest forms of culture. It is responsibility and experience that count in the management of men.

and institutions. McGill has given testimony to its appreciation of the services of its president.

In the western district of Ontario there is a "concession" called the Currie Road. Not many miles away there is the MacArthur homestead. The Curries and the MacArthurs were Canadian pioneers. One of the descendants of those pioneers undoubtedly was the greatest Canadian soldier. One of the descendants of another of the pioneers probably was the greatest Canadian writer of essays.

ORPHANS ARE IN CAREFUL HANDS

Dr. G. B. Switzer Addresses Men's Club at Fairfield United Church—History Given

In the Supreme Court here yesterday there was conveyed the information that the two orphan children of Lieut. Ronald C. Watson, R.C.N., and his young wife, who were drowned off Trial Island nine years ago, were being well looked after. While the courts are not regarded as a usual avenue for expression of sentiment, Harry J. Davis, in making a chambers application, conveyed welcome news concerning these two children who suffered such a severe loss when their father and their mother were lost with three young seamen in training.

The application made to M. Justice Fisher was for the setting aside of $50 a month for a period of a year from the estate belonging to the children for maintenance. The application was made on behalf of the grandfather of the children, who had been providing in full for the grandchildren in the past. The order was made.

It was explained to the court that the grandfather, who lives in Kansas, had made provision for the education of the children by providing for an insurance policy placed on the life of another son.

The grandfather was providing well for his wards, it was explained, and made the application only in view of the fact that conditions were of a special character at this time. He had been providing in full for the grandchildren in the past. The order was made.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Dec. 5 (CP).—Though the top hat of California's new redwood as a gift for President Roosevelt, by J. B. ## MODERNISTS UNDER FIRE

Evangelical Ass'n Launches Attack on Leaders Who Doubt Bible

A bitter attack was launched against leaders of the so-called "modernist" group of the Christian Church, for their criticism of the Bible, by speakers at a meeting of the Victoria Evangelical Association, held at the Chamber of Commerce last night.

The attack was opened by Rev. G. F. Cox, chairman of the meeting, who stated that he had issued invitations to all ministers of the Protestant churches in the city of Victoria to attend the meeting, "and how many of them do you see here?" he asked. He read a letter received from the pastor of "one of the largest churches in Victoria," in which the writer stated that he could very definitely be counted out of any such gathering. He branded the organization as a "divisive movement," and stated that he would do his utmost to discourage its growth.

COUNTERFEIT CHRISTIANITY
"It is they, and not us, who are divisive today," declared Dr. W. M. Robertson, of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, of Vancouver, who delivered the main address of the evening. "We are resisting a counterfeit Christianity, an appalling situation in which the leaders of the Christian church are traitors to the Bible; for those who put question marks where God put a full stop, are following in the footsteps of the devil."

If Christ could accept the Old Testament as it stood, then it is not

A statement to the above effect was made under oath before a Notary Public at the City of Montreal, on November 28, 1933. Order for file for your reference.

AN interesting and instructive address on "Why and Wherefore of Pruning," was given by E. W. White, assistant Provincial horticulturist, in an address to members of the Victoria Horticultural Society last night, in the council chamber of the City Hall.

Combined with his address, Mr. White gave practical demonstrations. D. D. McTavish, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president. There was a large turnout of members and friends.

In dealing with pruning, Mr. White told of two types of young trees, budded and root-grafted. He explained the various outlines of each and traced their beginning.

Mr. White advocated purchase of two-year-old trees for the grafter, because, in their youth, they can easily be trained to the personal requirements of the grafter.

"There is nothing mystifying about grafting," he stated. It is a simple process, but care is necessary. The speaker then gave several demonstrations of grafting. He pointed out that following grafting, portions so joined should be securely bound. A shoemaker's "band" was useful in this respect, but ordinary twine could be used.

"Most failures in grafting, however, come when the hardest part is finished," he stated. This was application of a special wax to insure perfect results, and to keep the wounded parts free from air. He told how this wax could be prepared, the ingredients being resin, bees' wax, linseed oil and lamp-black.

Through the courtesy of the Department of Agriculture, it was announced that two pruning schools will be held early in 1934.

Tributes Voiced at Golden Wedding of Esteemed Citizens

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spofford Principals of Gala Celebration at Empress Hotel Yesterday Afternoon—Purse of Gold and Numerous Bouquets Presented by Women's Clubs

In an unusually romantic setting of bridal flowers, bridal cake and bridal music, Victoria yesterday afternoon honored a pioneer clubwoman and pioneer churchman and citizen, when more than two hundred guests assembled at the Empress Hotel to celebrate, with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spofford, the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. In numerous eloquent little speeches, and with flowers and other gifts, congratulations were showered upon the happy pair.

The affair took place in the lower lounge, which was a festive air for the occasion. The bride and groom of fifty years entered the hall to the strains of the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" and, to an accompaniment of applause, were ushered by Mrs. W. J. H. Holmes, Miss Crease, Mayor and Mrs. Leeming, Mr. and Mrs. George Jay and Rev. and Mrs. G. A. Reynolds, to their seats at the guest table in the middle of the room. A retinue, comprising representatives of various women's and church societies, with which Mr. and Mrs. Spofford have been associated during their long residence in the city, brought up the rear of the procession. Other guests were scattered about the room in informal groups and, at the end of the afternoon, following speeches and presentations, came forward and added their personal congratulations to the more formal ones.

JOYOUS OCCASION
The celebration was organized at the inception of the Local Council of Women, of which Mrs. Spofford is a charter member, is now president. Other societies which co-operated were the Women's Canadian Club, of which Mrs. Spofford was president for two years; the W.C.T.U., at the organization of which she was present; the W.C.T.U. Home, and the ladies of the First Baptist Church.

As vice-president of the Local Council, Mrs. W. J. H. Holmes presided in a very happy little speech on behalf of all these societies extended congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Spofford. The presence of so large a gathering was visible testimony of the great number of friends they had made during their long residence in the city and everyone present would wish them many more happy anniversaries.

Miss Crease supplemented these greetings with a message from the secretary of the Provincial Council of Women. Others who spoke were Mrs. William Grant, Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, Mayor Leeming, Rev. W. C. Smalley, Edmondson, secretary of the Baptist Union of Western Canada; Rev. G. A. Reynolds, pastor of First Baptist Church; Mrs. Russell, of the First Baptist Women's Missionary Society; Mrs. F. W. Laing, representing the Provincial W.C.T.U.; and Mrs. James Galbraith, of the Women's Canadian Club, organized in 1883, when Frances Wilford was here; the Local Council of Women, of which she was a charter member, and the first corresponding secretary for many years; and the Women's Canadian Club, organized in 1883.

PURSE PRESENTED
In presenting a purse of gold as a token of appreciation, Mrs. William Grant touched especially on connection with the First Baptist Church; the W.C.T.U., at the organization of which she had been present in 1883, when Frances Wilford was here; the Local Council of Women, of which she was a charter member, and the first corresponding secretary for many years; and the Women's Canadian Club, organized in 1883.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME
Mrs. W. G. Wilson convened the delightful musical programme of vocal quartets. "When Honey Sings an Old-Time Song," "Lilac Tree" and "The Sunshine of Your Smile," old-time melodies specially prepared for the occasion and developed into most pleasing harmony by the singers, Mrs. Harold Campbell, Mrs. Georgina Watt, Frank Spooner and Frank Paulding. Mrs. Charles Conyers very ably presided at the piano.

The guest table was charmingly arranged in a motif of pale gold, worked with chrysanthemums and candles in branching silver candelabra. The three-tiered bride cake, which occupied a place of honor, was cut by Mrs. Spofford, assisted by Mayor Leeming. Mrs. A. Carmichael and Mrs. A. C. Reynolds poured tea at the guest table, at which the following additional guests, other than the speakers already mentioned, were Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton, of James Island; Mrs. Sarah Ward, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. H. Clyde, of Palo Alto (all immediate relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Spofford), and Mr. and Mrs. George Jay.

Mrs. W. G. Wilson and Mrs. S. J. Willis presided at the buffet table, from which tea was served to the other guests, assisting being Mrs. J. L. White, Mrs. Bertha Parsons, Mrs. Sabiston, Mrs. A. E. Hopkins and Mrs. Phillip Taylor. Mrs. J. W. Gibson was general convener of the successful celebration and Mrs. G. W. Bradshaw the treasurer.

Mr. Jones—I bought 10,000 shares of Drywall Oil Company stock today. The broker said it was a "good buy."

Wife—Yes, and he told the truth. It's "good-bye" to your cash.

Broken Windows By Wild Golfers May Cost Money

LONG BEACH, Cal., Dec. 5 (CP).—The faith of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward Johnson, in the skill of public links golfers, proved all too sanguine. Two years ago they built their $25,000 home near the thirteenth tee of the municipal course. Now they want $10,000 damages from the city, charging twenty-five windows have been broken by mis-directed golf balls.

CUP SERIES ENDS TODAY

Two Matches Will Mark Finish of Hayward Trophy in Mid-Week Loop

With only two of the three scheduled games going into action this afternoon, the Hayward Cup series, Wednesday League football will come to a close. Spencer's improved eleven will attempt to turn back the Navy at Heywood Avenue grounds, while Hudson's Bay boys will tackle the James Bay Liberals on lower Beacon Hill. Referees Alcock and Johnson will handle the games, which commence at 2:30.

The game between Macabees and Garrison has been postponed owing to members of the latter team having to attend the memorial service for the late Sir Arthur Currie.

Possession of the Hayward Trophy has already been decided in favor of the Garrison, which team displayed good form throughout the season.

Line-ups follow:

The James Bay Liberals line-up will be as follows: Bourne, Eastwood, Campbell, McBride, Belford, Thorne, Obee, Miller, Watson, Rice, A. McBride, Roekamp, White and Mercer.

All players are asked to be at the grounds at 2:15 o'clock.

Hudson's Bay—Baxter, Wyatt, O'Connell, Fairall, Oakman, Menzies, Scott, Plish, McKenzie, Stevens and Bentley.

RANGERS HOCKEY STAR IN BAD WAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (CP).—Art Somers, the Winnipeg hockey star, who held down an ace position on the second string line of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, was in a hospital here, today, in a serious condition.

Complained that followed an injury to his jaw, when struck by a Toronto player in the opening game of the Rangers' league season, in the Queen City, necessitated an operation late today.

NEW RECORDS ESTABLISHED DURING YEAR

Herman and Wilson Hang Up Marks—Braves Break Own Record

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP).—A new club fielding record for the Boston Braves and individual marks by Billy Herman, Chicago Cubs' second baseman, and Jimmy Wilson, St. Louis backstop recently traded to the Phillies, featured the National League's defensive performances for 1933, according to the official averages just released.

The Braves added two percentage points to their own previous league record, made in 1932, by finishing with a fielding mark of 978. The Cardinals, Giants, Cubs and Pirates all were bunched, in that order, separated altogether only by a half-point in the percentage column.

Hughie Critz, of the Giants, beat out Frankie Frisch, manager of the Cardinals, for second base fielding honors for league workers. The Cub star, with 466 putouts, broke a National League mark that has stood since 1912, when Bill Sweeney, of Boston, collected 459 putouts.

Herman also established a league record with 11 putouts in one game.

WILSON BREAKS MARK
Wilson, with 18 putouts behind the bat on July 30 against the Cubs, surpassed the record of 17 set by Johnny Deberry, of Brooklyn, in 1928. This was the game in which Dizzy Dean whiffed 17 Cubs for a new major league strikeout record.

Based on the official figures for regulars, an all-star National League field team would line up as follows:

First base, Charles Grimm, Chicago, 996.
Second base, Hugh Critz, New York, 981.

Shortstop, Leo Durocher, St. Louis, 960.
Third base, Elwood English, Chicago, 973.

Right field, Harry Rice, Cincinnati, 991.
Centre field, George Davis, New York, 988.

Catcher, Frank Hogan, Boston, 997.

Pitcher, Lon Warneke, Chicago, 1,000 (most chances).

STABILIZATION OF EXCHANGES URGED

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP).—Stabilization of exchanges between the countries of the Empire is being actively urged by the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire. This was one of the recommendations approved by the 22nd Empire delegates to the World Economic Conference.

The council of the Federation has now sent a letter to the Prime Minister, Finance and Commerce Ministers of the United Kingdom and other Empire Governments urging early implementation of the declaration.

Assembly of an Imperial Monetary Conference, with this object in view, was advocated.

A GRAND SLAM

Despite the present slam bonuses and the sound operation of the four-five no-trump convention, in actual play grand slams are still not an everyday occurrence, for the simple reason that the gods of chance do not give one side the great preponderance of honor strength and good distribution necessary to take all thirteen tricks.

Naturally, this is the way it should be, as otherwise bridge would develop into a gambling game like twenty-one, or even roulette.

Today's hand shows the simple bidding of a lay-down Grand Slam in which the five no-trump bid, the more retiring older brother of the four no-trump bid, played a prominent part.

North, dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

1. The jump trump rebid in response to a forcing takeout. A jump rebid in your own suit shows a solid or near-solid suit with a maximum of one loser. The suit, however, need not be more than six cards in length. Of course, if this bid is made on only a six-card trump suit, some extra outside honor strength should be held to avoid getting into an unmakeable contract.

2. South has complete faith in his partner. After North's four-diamond bid he knows that there must be a good play for at least a small slam. He accordingly bids five no-trump, which shows three aces and the king of a bid suit.

3. North can now tell almost to an absolute certainty that there are no losers in the hand. He knows that South has the ace of clubs, which takes care of all club losers. He also knows that South has the ace and king of spades and the ace of hearts, which take care of all heart losers in those suits, and furthermore he knows that there is only one chance in a thousand that there will be a diamond loser. Even if South is void of diamonds, the suit should break, but in addition, on the bidding, South is marked with, at the worst, a singleton and probably two or more cards of that suit. Thus thirteen tricks are assured and there is practically no danger of a ruff. North's bid is seven diamonds rather than seven no-trump, so if there is a diamond loser the contract will be defeated only one trick.

Of course, there is no play whatsoever to the hand. After the opening lead, declarer spread the cards.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

CANT HOLD A CANDLE TO—

A reader inquires as to the origin of the saying that someone "can't hold a candle to" someone else, with the significance of inferiority. The use of the expression "hold a candle to" in the sense of comparison goes all the way back to classical antiquity, when Diogenes in his "Proverbs" spoke of "holding a candle to the sun" in allusion to comparing one's accomplishments with far greater ones.

Tempting Wares Offered For Sale At Church Bazaar

There was a happy gathering of old friends and new at the Christmas bazaar, held yesterday afternoon, at the Church of Our Lord, Free Church of England. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the stalls were well patronized.

Miss H. Newbury, assisted by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. E. Zimmerman, presided at the fancywork stall; the novelties were sold by Mrs. Stanley Martin, assisted by Mrs. Mabel Hawthorne and Miss Blanche Cooley; the plain sewing was in charge of Mrs. A. H. Harman, Miss E. Hunt and Miss Helen Pontifex. The Misses Murray's table of their own home-made candles, was beautifully decorated with holly and Christmas colors and the home cooking was in charge of Mrs. Lupton and Mrs. Frank Shandley. Mrs. Peter Shandley was at the superfluities stall, and Mrs. John Newbury had charge of the bran tub, which was expected to be completed by the middle of the summer. During the afternoon, Miss Thain delighted the visitors with piano solos. Tea was served under the convener'ship of Mrs. A. Tobin, Mrs. W. G. Monahan and Mrs. D. C. Hughes, who were assisted in serving by Misses Phyllis Monahan, Almee O. ### B.C. Nickel Names Directorate Following Reorganization

VANCOUVER, Dec. 5.—At a meeting of the British Columbia Nickel Mines, held recently, A. H. Douglas, K.C., was re-elected president of the reorganized company. The new board will consist of Col. Victor Spencer, Bernard, "Ben" Smith, of New York, David Sloan, Thomas E. Bragg, of New York, and J. T. Johnson. G. N. Stacey is the secretary.

Under the new control, operations at the property on Emery Creek are progressing very rapidly. It was announced. Equipment has now been installed and a start has been made in drilling the 4,000-foot tunnel, which is expected to be completed by the middle of the summer. At the present time, power is being supplied by Diesel engines, but within the next week or ten days, the hydro-electric system will be in operation, permitting further speeding up of work. The tunnel is being driven to pick up the downward extension of the vein system disclosed on the surface, and if the values found are as expected, the management will go ahead with the building of a mill and bring the property into production.

Build Yourself Up To Resist Winter Ills

THE VITAL 3

1—CALCIUM
Vital to life and health. Adequate supplies are constantly needed to enable the intestinal muscles to contract properly, to promote normal action of muscles and nerves, to build and to preserve strong bones and sound teeth. Ordinary diets are more likely to be deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element.

2—PHOSPHORUS
An important constituent of all cells of the body, of the bones and glandular tissue, and first among all substances as a nerve food. Necessary in regulating and maintaining the neutrality of the blood, and in sustaining its normal temperature. Also required in turning starchy foods (bread, potatoes, sugar) into energy. Fresh supplies of phosphorus are needed daily.

3—IRON
The entire store of iron in the human system is only about one-tenth of an ounce and constant renewal of this dynamic element is necessary. Every cell of the body and every tiny red corpuscle needs a supply of iron every day or weakness and loss of strength immediately result. If enough iron is not supplied each day, the blood will thin, the small reserve stores in the liver, spleen and bone marrow, thus weakening the entire body structure. Anemia and this blood simply mean insufficient iron in the system.

DON'T face the winter in a run-down condition. If you tire easily, if you are underweight, if your blood is thin, or if your digestion is poor, you are likely to catch any cold that comes along, and then get still further run-down and become an even easier prey to further colds, bronchitis, flu and pneumonia.

The best way to prevent winter ills is to build up your health, strength and resistance. You can do it with Fellows' Syrup. This world-famous preparation contains the "Vital 3" elements—calcium, phosphorus and iron—absolutely necessary for building and preserving tissue, bones, blood and nerves.

Fellows' Syrup brings you the "Vital 3" in a form that is easily digested, that quickly enters and enriches the blood stream, feeds the nerves, creates energy, increases strength and builds up resistance. In addition, Fellows' Syrup brings you potassium, sodium and other mineral substances which, when combined with the "Vital 3", keep the blood more alkaline.

Take Fellows' Syrup regularly at this season of the year and thus put yourself in better fighting trim to resist winter ills. Give it also to your "teen-age" boys and girls to build up their powers of resistance. Doctors have prescribed "Fellows" for 60 years, and the most recent scientific discoveries still still further prove the value of calcium, phosphorus and iron—the "Vital 3"—for restoring, invigorating and strengthening the human system.

NEWS OF B.C. MINING

Rare Mineral Deposit Is Discovered Near B.C. Boundary Line

Beryllium Deposit Is Reported in Pelly Mountains in Yukon Territory—Element Is Invaluable in Steel Industry Owing to Strength, Lightness and Durability

VANCOUVER, Dec. 5.—Beryllium, a rare metallurgical element of value in the industrial arts, is reported to have been found on the northern boundary of British Columbia.

A prospecting party working in close to the provincial boundary, the Pelly Mountains in the Yukon, seeking a reported deposit of pitchblende, which on subsequent analysis revealed the presence of the element.

VALUABLE PROPERTIES
The metal possesses very valuable properties, lightness, strength, hardness and resistance to heat and corrosion, and is in demand in steel manufacture. On that account the discovery has already aroused the interest of a powerful United States steel organization, which proposes to conduct an investigation.

The beryllium deposit has been located by W. McAllister, of Carcross, Yukon Territory, who was there last summer as a member of the party.

THREE MINERALS FOUND
Mr. McAllister, in reporting the discovery, stated that the pitchblende was not located. The samples analyzed came from "float" on the stream, three minerals, one of which was beryllium, beyond doubt by the assayer. Following the float upstream, the party found that the native rock discloses granitic intrusion in crystalline schists, with later limestone, where the mineral originates.

It is the first occasion upon which beryllium has been found within the boundaries or adjacent to British Columbia.

OFFERS OPPORTUNITY
Mr. McAllister believes the Pelly district offers considerable opportunity to the prospector. He thinks much silver will be found when the price of the white metal encourages prospectors to go into the hills. An area of silver-bearing rocks extends through to the Mayo camp.

In the Laird district, on Sawney Creek, a Toronto firm is operating as the Canadian Exploration Company, and its men are practically the only whites in that section of British Columbia, except for a few transient trappers.

Recently Mr. McAllister has been working in the Alsek River district, where he pointed out there are two entrances to this area, isolated though it is from the general body of the province. It is regarded as good ground both for gold and placer properties.

UNICORN LOCATES SECOND ORE ZONE

Summer Work Discloses Further Mineralized Area on Big Missouri Neighbor

A second mineralized zone has been proved on the property of the Unicorn Mines, Ltd., adjoining the Big Missouri property in the Portland Canal district, during the past season's operations, according to a recent report of John Hovland, managing director of the company. In summarizing the summer's work, Mr. Hovland stated:

"The outstanding feature of the season is that work in No. 301 crosscut indicates two large north-south zones or veins on the west side of Union Creek, instead of one as we believed last year. It is now apparent the Union Zone, as exposed in crosscut No. 101, 201 and 301, has no connection with the surface croppings on the Union Claim or those above No. 2 tunnel. These zones are evidently parallel and about 250 feet apart. We will call the more westerly one the No. 2 zone.

"It now appears the Union Zone will follow the main break in the centre of the property, a distance of more than a mile. It is also very apparent that both the Union Zone and No. 2 zone continue southerly into the Big Missouri property.

BIG MISSOURI RESUMES
"A matter of interest to our stockholders is the resuming of operations at Big Missouri. Their ore bodies will be developed in both northerly and southerly directions. Of further interest was the announcement in their 1932 geological report that four mineral zones had been defined on Big Missouri. The 'D' Zone is the largest, having a width of approximately 800 feet. This zone outcrops on their Duran

Vista Claim and from there extends easterly through the Unicorn to Harris Creek, a distance of nearly 2,000 feet. The southern lines of this zone are close to Unicorn's south boundary. Exploration work on these mineral exposures, both on the Unicorn and on the Vista Claim, has disclosed generally higher gold values and more visible native gold than any other surface area of Big Missouri.

"Big Missouri's underground workings had not reached this zone, but they are very near it. These workings extended well explore this mineral area in a depth of approximately 800 feet. It is quite likely this will be one of their immediate objectives and results will be interesting to Unicorn for the greater part of the 'D' Zone is within our boundaries.

SURFACE EXPLORATION
"When weather permitted we continued work on the area west of Union Creek. We exposed an ore body twenty feet wide, averaging $4 gold and two to four ounces silver per ton. Adjoining this on the east is a vein three to three feet wide, which assays $8 to $40 gold per ton. This vein has been traced a distance of eighty feet by surface cuts.

"The above area (No. 2 Zone) is slightly south of and 180 feet above the heading of No. 2 tunnel. We believe the tunnel is just entering this zone, but more work is needed to prove the downward extension of the surface values."

Beauty Clay Discovered In Province

"If there is such a thing as beauty clay, this is it," declared J. T. Martin, provincial geologist, when he recognized the beginning of this mining engineer, referring to a sample of grey clay taken from a bed of similar material in the vicinity of the Stuart Bay mineral hot springs at Dean's Channel, B.C., recently.

The mineral hot springs, which were covered by C. L. Behnen some forty years ago, and since been used by large numbers of persons in the province for the curing of a variety of ills, contain, according to analysis, a number of valuable health-giving minerals.

In close proximity to this hot spring a bed of grey clay was recently discovered. Mr. Martin, after his examination, said: "It is a patch of grey clay as fine as silk and as soft as velvet. A body smear on the lovely soap, sun, takes as hard as brick. It grips and squeezes the pores of the skin like a vise. You melt it off in the water and, presto, you're young and you feel like when you were born."

AMERICANS To Reopen
Velvet Mine

ROSSLAND, Dec. 5.—George Corryell, of the Velvet Mining Company, of Seattle, which company operated the Velvet mine on the Rossland-Cascade Highway, about ten miles from here, arrived in this city today accompanied by other members of the company, and is contemplating reopening the mine, which is under lease on option to purchase to the Seattle company. Considerable work has been done at the property in equipping the mine, repairing buildings and the erection of a reservoir, shipments having been made via Sheep Creek Road to Northport by the Great Northern Railway since the mine was opened more than a year ago.

The Velvet is a gold property and the high price of the yellow metal has spurred the company to the point of reopening the old property, which was closed last year owing to water shortage.

"How is your wife enjoying her Mediterranean cruise?" "Well, she writes me from every port she touches, and touches me from every port she writes from."

LEASES ARE VERY ACTIVE NEAR TRAIL

Many Gold Properties Shipping to Tadanac Smelter During Summer

TWO MINES DISCLOSE PHENOMENAL VALUES

ROSSLAND, Dec. 5.—The high price of gold has spurred miners of the yellow metal here to great activity and the shipments being made from the properties under lease to experienced miners to the smelter of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, Limited, at Trail, are increasing as the work of recovering the ore progresses.

A recent survey of the properties under lease and of the properties being developed in the free gold mining area on O.K. Mountain reveals that more than 150 men are being employed.

RICH PROPERTY

Roy Stephens, who has been connected with the mining engineering department of the Consolidated for many years, considered one of the best miners in the province, has a lease on the old War Eagle mine, a property which thirty years ago was sold by a Spokane syndicate for $750,000. The syndicate is said to have received more than $100,000 in dividends before the sale was made. Mr. Stephens has the largest payroll of any of the operators here at present, forty miners being employed at his property, while others are employing from five to fifteen.

USE TRUCKS

The A. H. Green Company, Ltd., use trucks in conveying their ore from the mines to the smelter. Tadanac, a road having been constructed to permit easier access to the properties under lease from the Consolidated.

It is also stated that twenty of the old claims of the Consolidated are being taken from the most experienced miners and that from all the mines shipping from this district today, the production in gold will exceed that of the Premier Mine in the Portland Canal district.

HIGH VALUES

From the free gold area some of the ore, especially that of the famous old I.X.L. Mine, runs high in gold, a recent shipment of 1,700 pounds giving the I.X.L. leading syndicate returns of about $9 per pound. The gold could be seen with the naked eye in some of this ore, which is being taken from the most recent discovery by the syndicate.

The O.K. Syndicate, which has been at work on the O.K. Mine on O.K. Mountain, is said to have shipped 75 pounds of ore which gave returns of almost $900.

Cariboo Mountain Tunnel Halfway To Its Objective

In a report to shareholders at the annual meeting of the Cariboo Mountain Gold Mines, Ltd., J. A. McLaughlin, M.E., stated that the tunnel had been more than half way to its objective, which is the downward extension of the wide vein which outcrops on the property. The engineer plans to drive two ways on the vein, and possibly to sink a winze. The next step would be to drive a tunnel at a lower level and plan erection of a mill.

In addition to driving the tunnel approximately 200 feet, the company has, since July 27, completed a permanent camp and built snowsheds from the portal of the mine to the mine dump.

W. A. Halliday reported that a substantial balance of cash remained in the treasury.

W. A. McKenzie was in the chair, and all directors were re-elected.

MACASSA GOLD

At a special meeting of Macassa shareholders on December 4, the agreement was ratified and confirmed which reduced the capital from 5,000,000 shares to 3,000,000 shares. The old shareholders will get one new share in exchange for two old ones. Under this arrangement the Macassa Company will own the United Kirkland property along with $50,000 to $60,000 cash. The United Kirkland shareholders get one new share for five of theirs, or on the old basis of Macassa, one for ten. This leaves the Macassa Company with 370,000 shares in the treasury. From many angles it is looked upon as a highly satisfactory deal.

Macassa Mines Limited started mill operations on October 18, and has been running on the average 110 tons a day to get the plant run in. It is confidently expected this will be stepped up to 200 tons a day, and before the end of December the average recovery will be round $18 per ton, or roughly $110,000 per month. Costs are estimated at $8 per ton and based on gold at $30 per ounce, leaving a profit of $10 per ton, or about $700,000 per year. Under the new capitalization, with 2,600,000 shares issued, this should mean a per cent profit of 25 cents per share each year. Progress is being made with the development of further ore bodies in the mine, and it would
